

Emily E. Farkas is a business consultant currently living in Tampa, Florida. She evaluates and improves logistical processes by assessing supply chain operations, developing cost-effective solutions to optimize logistical procedures, and create improvement strategies with her unique leadership and extensive experience portfolio.

While consulting has enabled her to utilize the skills developed from her military career, her ultimate passion is to serve others as a healthcare professional. After completing a Master of Medical Sciences degree in August 2023, she is currently working towards becoming a physician associate.

In her previous life, she served honorably as an aircraft maintenance officer in the United States Air Force for nearly 25 years. Her final assignment was at McConnell Air Force Base, Kansas, as the Commander, 22d Maintenance Group leading over 1200 personnel to maintain 21 KC-135 Stratotankers and 23 KC-46 Pegasus.

Emily remains an active, life member with the Air & Space Forces Association, Airlift/Tanker Association, and the Logistics Officer Association.

She enjoys spending time with her husband, two sons and two dogs. She is also an avid karaoke singer and likes to bang on the keys of her 1900 Steinway Grand Piano.